

EDUPOWER NORDIC INSTITUTE

OPERATIONAL EXCELLENCE

interview with Logistics Director Markus Näsi

I wanted to know what Lean is, because the Lean philosophy is implemented in so many companies. I recognized that my field of view had become too narrow. The training gave me strength to jump at known problems that I previously lacked the energy to confront.

Training days are normally hard on people that have not been in school for years. The employees that participated in the Lean-training were inspired by the training and got the energy to take it seriously.

Matters presented in a relaxed and discussing way were highly appreciated. These sessions were really professionally fun to participate in. In my own opinion I now understand what the Lean-philosophy is. I got a brand new enthusiasm for my own work. All of a sudden I had to challenge my own understanding and I gave my successor the advice to “challenge everything”. Otherwise there is no sense in this change.

Three words that explain the experience: relaxed-ambitious atmosphere, dialogue, inspiring.

Lean makes you think that you have to live both in the present and in the future to be able to lead a company. When you dig in the past, “why why why”, your eyes turn by force towards the future. Don't be satisfied with the first obvious answer.

Staff comments from training sessions:

“The course exceeded my expectations. At first I was suspicious, but I am not anymore”

“If and when we start to implement the Lean principles in our company, the material will give us much help in training the other employees”

Case study

Customer: MSK Cabins Oy

Year: 2015

Scope: Staff training according to Lean-principles. Lean Six Sigma Green Belt

MSK Cabins Oy

Did you know that our factory produces 50 cabins to over 75 different countries every day? 60 years of ambitious and determined development has created a world class cabin manufacturer. We know everything there is to know about machinery cabins.

www.mskcabins.fi